

Instructions

Today

On the following page is some text. To show the text, click the mouse then begin to read as soon as the text appears. After one minute a chime will sound. Stop reading and note the number of the line that you are on (located on the right). That is your reading rate. Go to the next page and answer some questions about what you have read (without going back). Afterwards, go to the final page for comments and tips about reading.